

Abstract

What is proposed is a transport device (1) with a preferably flat transport element (9) and with at least one basic carrier (11) which is mounted on the latter by means of rollers (31, 33) and onto which at least one article carrier (13) can be mounted. The transport device is defined in that the transport element (9) is driven.

(Figure 1)